

Validation and test are disjoint circuit sets, not exchangeable samples

Label distribution differs between splits

So does the size distribution

