

Residual redundancy beyond structural hashing

FABRICATED PLACEHOLDER — NOT MEASURED

Run the residual-redundancy probe at refinement depth $d = 1..4$ (count_cap = None, direction = backward). Depth 1 should find almost nothing precisely because every corpus graph is strashed; that is a reportable result either way.